RH: OK. OK. So, your still with Bracey, OK. And how's everything going since you've been back?
TL: Um, I'm gonna say everything's doing good with me, I'm just taking one day at a time.

RH: OK.

JB: Are you getting support from mental health?

TL: Um, yeah. I just saw mental health yesterday.

JB: See that's good.

TL: Um, she was nice, I talked to her for a little bit and then I was on my way. Cause when I come from court I don't necessarily don't like to talk to these people because I think I'm fine. Like I don't need to talk to anybody.

JB: But if your ever never fine, I want you to talk to somebody.

TL: Yeah.

JB: It's ok to talk to somebody, OK.

TL: Yeah. I know that.

JB: I think you could handle it.

TL: M-hmm.

JB: Alright, so congrats again...

TL: Thank you.

JB: At the birth of your new girl. What's her name?

TL: [REDACTED]

JB: Oh, that's a pretty name.

RH: Very nice.

TL: Thank you.

RH: How do you spell that?

TL: [REDACTED]

RH: Now is that...

JB: Rose.

TL: Rose.

RH: My daughters middle name is Rose.

JB: That's pretty. I like that, [REDACTED]

RH: That's nice.

JB: What's the meaning of [REDACTED]

TL: [REDACTED]

RH: Oh wow.

JB: Oh.

TL: I just spelt it differently.

JB: OK.

RH: That's fantastic, nice.

JB: OK.

TL: I just spelt it completely differently cause I didn't like the way it was spelled.

RH: Yeah.

TL: So, I wanted to be unique with the way I spell it.

JB: It's pretty, yeah.

RH: Yeah.

TL: It's supposed to be meaning, heaven [REDACTED] because my daughter came in the world as heaven so I call her my little heaven. My little peanut. That's my little baby right there. I love her.

JB: So how is she doing?

TL: Um, she's doing really good. Um, she was in the hospital for two weeks.

JB: M-hmm.

TL: Um, since the day of my birth and she got released yesterday to my mother.

JB: OK.

TL: My mother got granted to take her.

RH: Nice.

TL: The lawyer came to the house, checked the house again to make sure the baby was good. Everything was fine in the house. Um, she went to court up here in New London and they granted her...

JB: Custody.

TL: ...custody, temporary custody until I could come home.

JB: M-hmm.

TL: Um, so on that part everything is doing good. She's doing well. She's roughly about to be 5lbs. She's gaining it, losing it, so, um, they took the feeding tube off of her, so that's how she got released because eventually, um, initially she wasn't drinking from the bottle and she was really small. And she still is really small, but not too small. Like she can't be home.

JB: M-hmm.

TL: So, she gained weight. They took the feeding tube off. She's drinking, pooping. She's doing everything she has to do so they released her and now she's home with my mother and I went to court yesterday and I guess, um, they asked for, my public defender asked for a [??] bed. But the judge denied it because of my charges. Um, so it was kind of disappointing to me so at that moment I did need someone to talk to but when I came back I was like, eh I'm over it.

JB: OK.

TL: So, um, the discipline became because I'm, like, its tiring being here. I can't say that and the way I was treated at that point when I gave birth. I don't like it and its uncomfortable for me because I not a day go by that I don't think that something could have happened to my daughter and something could have happened to me. So, but there's not a day that goes by that I don't thank god that something didn't happen to her and something didn't happen to me. And, another thing that's uncomfortable for me because I'm walking around the whole compound and the whole compound is like, asking me questions. Telling me more rumors, making me relive the situation when I don't want to relive it.

RH: M-hmm.

JB: M-hmm.

TL: So, it's like I'm just had it being here because I'm the walk and talk around here and I don't want to be the walk and talk around here. It feels...

RH: Well...

TL: ...it feels good to me because I didn't something good.

RH: Yeah.

TL: But, I don't like reliving what I did good because I wasn't supposed to be in that situation.

RH: Yeah.

TL: Whether it was locked down Tuesday or not.

RH: Sure. I apologize for having to make you go through this again, but I will just say we are in charge of investigating why this happened to you.

JB: Yes.

TL: M-hmm.

RH: So that why we are here. So.

TL: No, that's fine.

JB: So, are you ok talking to us about it?

TL: Yeah. That's fine. You guys I could talk to, but...

JB: OK. OK.

RH: Yeah.

TL: You guys are investigators so I have no choice but to talk about it this.

RH: Right.

JB: So, I'm glad that you made a segway into what happened. So, I'm going to ask you please tell me what happened from Tuesday, February 6 when you saw the doctor to Tuesday, February 13 when you delivered your baby.

TL: OK. Um, Tuesday I don't really remember a lot of stuff Tuesday because that was Tuesday.

JB: Right.

RH: Yeah. If, as your talking, if something, oh wait, and this happened...

JB: Yeah.

RH: ...beforehand...

B: It's ok.

RH: ...you can go back and forth.

JB: Just freestyle.

RH: Yeah.

TL: Alright, so, I talk to her Tuesday, I'm remembering that because when I went, I don't even remember what day it was, but I know I went over there and I'm guessing its Tuesday. Um so I went over there, I went to medical...

JB: M-hmm.

TL: ...and I told her that I was having, um, braxton hicks contractions at the time. Because that's what I was having at the time.

JB: M-hmm.

TL: But I didn't, I didn't come to her with those words because I didn't know what braxton hicks was at the time so, so I came to her and said to her I was having pain. And it was, like, back pain.

JB: M-hmm.

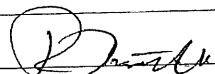

TL: And she said to me are they coming every 15 minutes, are they coming every 5 minutes or how many, how many minutes are they coming. It's hard to tell how many minutes they are coming because were locked in the cell. We, I don't have a watch in my room. And they come every 15 minutes. I'm not gonna sit here and count how many minutes I'm having pain cause that's hard to do when you're in pain...

JB: M-hmm.

TL: ...so, I told her, I said honestly don't know. But I know they come like, I told her every half hour. Because they come every 15 minutes and that's how many times I was having the pain, its every half hour.

JB: Who came every 15 minutes.

TL: The C-O's came...

JB: OK. So, your using that...

TL: ...tour, yeah, using that. Cause they do the tour around every 15 minutes. So, um, then she said to me when they get, when they get, 5 every 15 minutes, let me know and you can come back. She gave me a pitcher of ice and told me to drink water cause when usually you don't drink water and you have braxton hicks contractions that's what causes it for you to not have when you don't have water in your system. Your body naturally contracts cause you don't have fluids in your body. So, I said to her, alright that's fine. I wasn't in that much pain that time. But then a couple days I don't remember the other days I went there because I was, I don't even remember...

JB: All I want, so did you go every day or, because I have parts missing. Days missing that you didn't, that you didn't have pain.

TL: No, I, I...

JB: Or did you have pain every day?

TL: ... I had every other day that I went.

JB: OK.

TL: It wasn't like all the time I had pain. It was like every other day.

JB: OK.

TL: Um, so then, the, the next, the very other, following day, I went again because I was having pains but it was, it was every, I'm gonna say like every 20 minutes. She said 15 minutes to let her know, but at 20 minutes I'm freaking out because...

RH: Yeah.

TL: ...I don't know. So...

RH: It's your first child, so yeah.

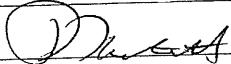

TL: Yeah, so, I told her that I was having pain again, all they kept doing was giving me ice cold water and that's all they kept doing for me. Telling me to drink water, drink water, drink water. And then, nurse Jess, she was ready to send me out to the hospital, but I told her...

JB: Who?

TL: Nurse Jess. She was ready to send me out to the hospital but I told her that I don't think I'm going to have the baby because that day I didn't feel like I was gonna have her. So, she said, you're not having the baby today so your good. And I said, yeah and I appreciate all the help that she does. Because she's usually one of the nurses that really care for me and help me a lot. So, I told her thank you for everything because all them days that I saw her she was the one that cared the most and did everything that she had to do. Then, um, I don't really remember the rest of the days because I was in tragic mode.

RH: M-hmm.

TL: I don't really remember, so. The day come to Febr--, the day comes like Tuesday, um...

JB: M-hmm.

TL: ...before. No, actually I'm gonna say Monday night, cause Monday night we were on lock cause of a code. And I went to my room and I was having pains since the morning time. And I told that, I told one of the C-Os, um, that I don't really remember the C-Os name but I told one of them, I said that I'm, there's, I'm having discharge leaking from me.

JB: So, Monday you were starting to leak?

TL: Yeah, but, I, I honestly thought it was my mucus plug because my mucus plug haven't came out yet. So, I told them, I think my mucus plug is coming out and they, they started laughing at me and said, um,...

RH: Who was laughing?

TL: One of the C-Os, I don't know their name.

RH: OK.

TL: I just knew they were laughing, but I think they thought I was playing around or something so I don't think they were laughing purposely. But they started laughing and I said, mister, im being serious cause I'm discharging and I have a pad on. And that's not, I don't know if that's normal. So, she called the nurse and the nurse said that it was, I forgot her name, but, it was somebody. And she said, the nurse said, that's discharging is fine, that means her mucus plug is coming out. She'll be ok. And I said ok that's fine with me, as long as I'm ok. So, I, I eventually then was having like, the contractions but I wasn't having them like, I wasn't necessarily say every 15 minutes, they were just like pelvis pains that I was having and I don't know if that's contractions but I was having them. Cause they told me if you have contractions they get tight in your stomach and you get tight down there and everywhere.

JB: Do you know what time Monday the, you were having the discharge?

TL: Um, I'm gonna say around 1:00. I'm gonna say around morning time and...

JB: OK.

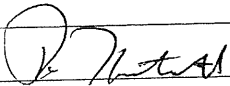

TL: one o'clock. All that day I was having it and to eventually at night time, like around I'm gonna say 10, 9, 11, around there. I'm gonna say like 10 when third shift comes in. I, um, I said to them, I, I actually was, I forgot what I was doing, I buzzed them and said I was having pain and third shift Ortiz with the nice eyes came and he was and he was like alright come up Laboy, so I came up and he said his gonna call the nurse. He called the nurse and told them she's crying in pain and she's 8 months pregnant and he told them the details of everything and then eventually they brought me over. I'm gonna say 10 minutes later they brought me over.

JB: To medical?

TL: To medical, yeah, um, not outpatients medical. Third shift medical, like where the medical [??]

JB: M-hmm.

TL: So, they brought me over there and Maddox, I think her name is Maddox, C-O Maddox. She said to me are you having the baby Laboy and smiled at me and I said, I laughed. She's one of my favorite C-Os because she's always, she's so caring and genuine.

RH: Was she working in medical?

TL: She was working in medical at the time so I, I asked her, I said, I said to her I think so, but, but I didn't get to finish my sentence because the nurse, nurse Michelle had interrupt me and said oh she's not having the baby, she's fine. And did it with an attitude and I looked at her and I said how would you know I'm fine by my face.

JB: Did nurse Michelle, did you tell her about leaking the fluids and stuff...

TL: I did tell her everything. And she said that's probably your mucus plug or something like that. And I just looked at her like, I don't know what's going on, but it was frustrating me. So then, like around I'm going to say 10:30 they sent me back with, she checked the fetal, um, the baby's heartbeat and she checked, um, my blood pressure. She gave me a heated pad and some water and told me to go back, I was fine. So, when I went back I started having the bloody show when your pregnant, Like when you give birth it's like a bloody show that you have.

RH: Can I ask you, when you went over there, did she do anything kind of exam?

TL: No, she's telling everybody she did, but she didn't.

RH: OK.

TL: I don't think the nurses are supposed to do an exam unless they have a Doctor around. That's what I was told by the Commissioner.

RH: OK.

TL: So, she did not do an exam, she didn't do anything to check if I was dilated or nothing. And you supposed to sent to the hospital to do any of that from my understanding.

JB: Did you hear her call the doctor?

TL: She didn't call anybody, she just sent me back. So, I don't understand, what, how's that possible for her to do any of that and lie about it. And then, and then she um, and then after that she, I went to, um, I went back to the unit and the unit and they eventually was in still in pain for like a couple of hours and then like an hour later I started leaking, like a lot. It was a lot of water coming out of me. I told my Bunkie to buzz em cause I couldn't get up from the toilet. It was a lot of water. And I told her buzz them cause I think my water broke and she said and she said ok I got you. So, she buzzed them and said I think my Bunkie water broke. And she said her water, the C-Os came down and was like so what exactly is going on now. Like said it just like that and I said my water, I think my water broke but I'm not sure it's my water. I said it just like that cause I wasn't sure.

JB: M-hmm.

TL: And then she said and then the C-Os, the C-O said I'm gonna call the nurse. So, she went up did her tour real quick, went up called the nurse and the nurse, she came back down and the nurse said your fine. That's your mucus plug. She had it set in her mind that it was the mucus plug. But, I'm telling you my water broke. You should have some type of consideration that my water broke.

JB: The mucus plug isn't not supposed to move unless you're about to give birth.

TL: Exactly.

JB: Yeah.

TL: So, that's what I'm saying, is she should know that by delivering babies. You know what I'm saying?

JB: M-hmm.

TL: And so, um, then after that, um, I'm gonna say like around, I put a shirt on cause the pads wasn't working it was going through my pads, it was going through everything. So, I put a shirt down there, one of my burgundy shirts cause I don't like [??] in my white shirts. So, I used my burgundy shirt. And so I put it down there and, um, when I, I walked to the chow how because it was time to chow hall. And I'm thinking now...

RH: M-hmm.

TL: I'm not actively...

JB: So, you were able to walk?

TL: I was able to walk but I couldn't walk. Like...

JB: Were you in a lot of pain?

TL: I was, in a lot of pain, I couldn't walk, like my legs kept giving in every single time I was walking to the chow hall. And, so, I couldn't even eat my breakfast cause my hands were like this, like they were numb. Everything was numb in my body and I couldn't eat anything, I tried eating, I was snapping at everyone at the table. My mom goes like yup, you were in active labor girl cause you snappin at everybody. I was like I'm not trying to snap at anybody, I'm just in a lot of pain. Nobody is doing anything about it. So, then I came, I went back to the tier and I'm gonna say like around 6 o'clock, I took the shirt out and it was like blood clots and all of them. There was a lot of blood and there was a blood clot on the floor and I didn't know my bunkie went to step over it and was like what is this. So, she turned the light on and she's like oh my god Bunkie. And then, it made her nervous so she buzzed them and she said listen, my, my bunkie is having a bloody show. So y'all need to call the nurse. So, they came down and the nurse was like, they kept, they had it set in their mind that I was fine, that I was fine that I was and I was fine, and I kept telling them I'm not fine. Right. There's blood coming out of me. Like around 6:30 I started, body started naturally pushing and I was on the toilet and because I thought I honestly...

JB: Why use the toilet?

TL: ...I had, yeah, I thought I had to use the bathroom.

JB: Right.

TL: So, I was pushing, pushing, so I put my hands down there because I wanted to see if I was dilating or nothing. I was smart about that because anything could have happened after that point. But I was smart because my mom told me that if anything happens, put your hand down there and see if your dilated. But, but...

JB: Oh your mom told you...

TL: My mom told me this, so, I put my hand in there and I felt her head. It was, she was crowning, I felt her whole head. So, I pushed and I pushed twice and she came out. And then...

JB: And did you hold her after she go in the toilet?

TL: She didn't go into the toilet at all.

TL: It was like...

JB: Because you were holding her.

TL: I was holding her...

JB: M-hmm.

TL: ...so she was like tilted in there, but she didn't fall exactly in there, I'm not gonna say that. So, then the C-Os was doing her tour, we buzzed them and they heard the baby in the buzzer.

JB: So, the baby was crying I guess?

TL: Yeah. The baby was not reacting at that point but then when I buzzed them right away they heard, wah, wah and they came down and said oh my god, there is a baby in the cell. So, they called, one of the C-Os called a code white, and then everybody came and it was, that's, everybody came and did what they had to do. The nurse Diane and the nurse Michelle and I said to her I told you so, I told you so and she was like I know, I know and all the nurses looked at her like, you knew. SS: No. SS

SS RH: No? So, was that the first time you ever interacted with her?

SS: Yes. She usually was just quiet in the unit. SS

SS RH: OK.

SS: It was a brand-new rotation, never any issues at all. SS

SS RH: OK. How long had you been in the unit prior to this happening?

SS: Uh, since the beginning of the rotation. SS

SS RH: OK. So, prior, so, the baby was born on the 13th, on the 12th she was taken to Medical...
 SS: Yes.

SS RH: ... at 11:10pm. Um, how did that transpire? Was it from a phone, did somebody call medical?
 SS: Well I was, um, touring and um, when I was coming down I saw that she was coming out. Ortiz said that she said she was experiencing stomach pains.

SS RH: M-hmm.
 SS: And that she called medical and that she was escorted.

SS RH: So, when you say she called medical.
 SS: No, he called medical.

SS RH: He called medical? OK.
 SS: Yeah. He called Medical and escorted her to medical.

SS RH: OK. So, her being brought over to medical as a result of him calling medical...

SS: Yeah. SS

SS: Yep. SS

SRH: Correctional Nurse Simmons came into the unit at approximately 2:30...

SS: Yeah. SS

SRH: And the two of you had a general conversation...

SS: Yeah. SS

SRH: Did either you or your partner mention inmate Laboy to C-N Simmons when she came into the unit?

SS: He was touring so he didn't speak with her. I, at that point, at 2:30, she was sleeping. SS

SRH: Yup.

SS: Um, I think we, I just, I don't even remember the conversation, I think we just had a general conversation. Cause I don't even know what's going on in medical. Like what her deal was. When she came back, I asked her are you all right. She said yeah, I'm alright. So, I didn't, I don't know what they were doing down there. But by all looks she was fine. She was sleeping and... SS

SRH: OK. But you don't remember if she was asleep...

SS: I think it was... SS

SRH: [??] conversation...

SS: ...no... SS

SRH: ...when she came in...

SRH: M-hmm. Do you think it would stick, given the fact that she gave birth. If you had mentioned it, would it have stuck out to you? At that point you say hey and let me ask you this. When medical comes into the unit at York. Do they usually go cell to cell?

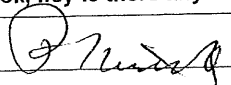

SS: No.

LR: No. SS

SRH: They, ever? Never? OK. Um so they come in, sign the log books, they don't actually go cell to cell?

LR: No. SS

SRH: Wow. Things have changed. Alright, um. OK. So, she came in, signed the log book. Did she, when she came in, did she ask, hey is there anything going on or just she just come in sign the book and started talking?

SS: I think she just literally started talking...SS

RH: OK.

SS: ...cause nothing even sticks out...SS

RH: OK.

SS: ...so I'm not sure. SS

RH: Alright. Um, and then you indicated that at 4:30, during a tour, inmate Laboy was complaining about clear discharge.

SS: Yeah. SS

RH: Did she say that to you or your partner?

SS: No, to me. She um, was sitting on the toilet and I said, um, she said I had some clear discharge, I'm like is it a lot? She said no. So, but still obviously I had to call medical. SS

RH: OK.

SS: Called medical. SS

RH: Alright, so, cause on the camera it looked like Ortiz had done a tour and he stopped at the cell and he kind of talked to her for a while and when he came back he started talking to you. Then you got up and went down to the cell. And then so it looked like you both had talked to her for a little bit. Do you remember that? So...

LR: Let me, uh...SS

RH: Yeah, so, 4 o'clock Ortiz was doing a tour, 4:03 he paused at Laboy's cell. At 4:14 he did another tour. Um, 4:36 he toured. It looked like you guys were splitting the tours up every hour?

SS: Yeah. SS

RH: Yeah, so one hour he'd do the tours, next hour, so he was doing the 4 o'clock tours and at 4:36 he toured and then 4:40 he stops, he went, he went, he did the up tier and bottom tier. As he was going over to the other side, he stopped. You guys talked for a little bit and then you got up and went down to the cell. And when you came back you picked up the phone and called medical.

SS: I could have sworn that was on a tour. SS

RH: Yeah that's...

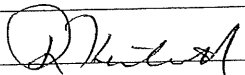

SS: That's why I'm like... SS

SS: He probably got nervous, cause... SS

RH: ...he asked you to go...

SS: ... she was on the toilet. So, I don't, cause technically you're not supposed to look. So... SS

RH: Yep.

SS: But I know I definitely went to her cell and I asked her to describe it... SS

RH: Yup.

SS: Because obviously she went to medical prior. I asked her all these questions and then called um, Nurse Michelle... SS

RH: OK. So, let me ask you about that, when, um, when you called medical, who did you talk to in medical?

SS: Uh, Michelle. SS

RH: Cause Brianna picked up the phone. Did you talk to Brianna?

SS: I don't know if she put, maybe answered? But I know I talked to Michelle. About the discharge... SS

RH: OK. Um, cause in camera, with the camera, that's what, what it looked like was, it's hard to tell with, with, I can't, the phones don't pick up what we can't, they don't record inter facility calls. From the cameras I can see that you pick up the phone and I see Brianna pick up the phone on the other end. And the reason I know your talking to her is cause you both hang up the phone at the same exact time. And after you both hang up you went back down to Laboys cell to talk to her. So, but, I know Brianna was sitting on one side of medical, you know medical...

SS: Yeah... SS

RH: ...so Brianna was sitting here. Michelle was directly across from her...

SS: Yeah... SS

RH: And it looks like there talking as you guys are in conversation.

SS: Yeah, it had to have been like, cause with Michelle she's was an O-B-G-Y-N Nurse. So, with this inmate, obviously this is her expertise. So... SS

RH: Yup.

SS: And she said that she was fine... SS

RH: OK. So, at 4:30 you spoke to Michelle. You know you spoke to Michelle, did you know...

SS: Yeah... SS

RH: ...to the nurses. I mean you called medical, you did what you were supposed to do.

SS: Yeah. SS

RH: So, it's not, like if you talked to Brianna or you talked to Michelle. Its, it's...

SS: Yeah, I just, I remember Michelle. SS

RH: OK.

SS: Cause this was, all I remember is her voice... SS

RH: OK. Do...

SS: ...and I was talking to her. SS

RH: ...do you remember exactly what you told to Michelle at that 4:30 phone call?

SS: The rough est-, It would be... SS

RH: Well not word for word, but...

SS: Yeah, yeah, but it was like, I said she was on the toilet, she has clear discharge coming out. I don't know what this means, she said it's not a lot, but, she's like no she's fine, just tell her to rest, she'll be fine. That was it. And I told Laboy and then Laboy went back to bed. Throughout the night. SS

RH: So, after you hung up, you went back down to the cell and told her. Did you actually, was she still on the toilet at that point when you went back to the cell?

SS: Yes. SS

RH: And you tell her that, did you tell her I talked to Michelle and she said relax or, how did you relay the information from medical to Laboy?

SS: I think I said like um, that they said that she would be fine. Something that was just reassuring her. SS

RH: OK. And did she say anything back?

SS: She was just like, OK. SS

RH: OK. Was her cell mate up at that point, do you remember? Was Bracy up?

SS: She randomly was up during the night, but usually she was, um, she might have been awake during that time. Cause the light was on. So, when Laboy went to turn the light on, Bracy seemed like a little bit awake. But I was kind of focused on Laboy. SS

RH: OK. Um, did you happen to mention at 4:40 I think, or, when was your phone call. So, Lieutenant York and Vega came into the unit at like 4:15, did, did you happen to mention Laboy to either of them when they came in?

SS: Well at first when I got the discharge, she, dismissed it as something normal, its fine. Because once the code had happened I was down there so I didn't see what he had written in the log book. SS

AO: I am.

RH: OK. Uh, prior to February 13, were you familiar with inmate Laboy?

AO: I am only familiar with her because I was in that unit for the previous rotation.

RH: OK.

AO: So...

RH: So, you knew who she was?

AO: I knew who she was...

RH: And she was pregnant, obviously...

AO: At the time, yes.

RH: OK. Do you ever have any issues with her?

AO: Never.

RH: OK.

AO: No.

RH: Um, so the day before, so February 12, um, you ended up taking inmate Laboy over to medical, right. At 11:10pm, I'm just trying to clarify. How did that happen? Was that, it wasn't clear on how, how she got, why she went over, did, did, second shift call, did you call? What happened to get her over there?

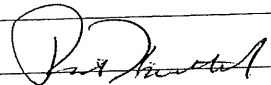

AO: No, um, I started the shift. Um, a few minutes after that, um, she had told, uh, my partner that she wasn't feeling good. When she was touring.

RH: OK.

AO: Um, and I called medical, I was the number one officer that night, so I called medical and told her the situation and that I would be escorting her down.

RH: OK. Who did, when you called medical, who picked up? That first, at 11:10?

AO: Uh, I believe it was Michelle.

AO: Correct.

RH: OK. And did, what did Michelle say?
AO: Um, to bring her down.

RH: OK.
AO: You know.

RH: So, you called, said hey, Laboy is complaining of discomfort. Michelle says bring her over?
AO: Right.

RH: OK. So, and then, where did the wheel chair come from? I know when you got into medical, she was in a wheel chair. Was there one in the unit? Did you...
AO: There was one in two south.

RH: OK.
AO: So, I went and grabbed it, brought it over.

RH: OK.
AO: And...

RH: Was that your decision to bring her over in a wheel chair or was that just, did medical say to bring her over like that or?
AO: I don't remember if they asked or they didn't. I just knew she was pregnant, um, and if they did ask then that was the direction that I followed.

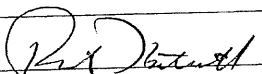

RH: Yep. That's fine, I was just curious...
AO: Right.

RH: Obviously it looks good at this point.
AO: Right.

RH: So yeah, so that was, uh, York is 11-7?
AO: Yeah.

RH: So, the very first tour, Surriera did the first tour? She said hey, that was the call?
AO: Correct.

RH: OK. And then you called, Michelle picks up said bring her over. You brought her over and then you brought her back, obviously after, after the...
AO: I escorted her back.

RH: OK. While she was in medical, did you hear any of the interaction between Ms. Laboy and Michelle?

AO: I did. Briefly when I first got there. You know because I escorted her down, told her what was going on. Um, and uh, the nurse pretty much told me that she had gotten reports of her earlier, um, in the shift, the prior shift of her complaining similar situations. Um...

RH: So, Michelle said that during second shift, they had been calling also?

AO: Right, not too sure if it was all on second or throughout the day.

RH: OK.

AO: You know. Um, that they had other complaints about her complaints.

RH: OK.

AO: You know, regarding her health.

RH: OK.

AO: Um.

RH: And while she was in medical, did you see any of the treatment? Was there, did you see her take vital signs...?

AO: I did.

RH: OK.

AO: I did. She took her vitals...

RH: Did she take like a fetal heart rate do you know? Do you know what that? Did they do anything with her stomach? Did they...

AO: Nah, she sat in the chair. I know she did her blood pressure and the couple of the generic things that they do.

RH: OK.

AO: Um and she told her that she wasn't going to have the baby.

RH: At one point when I'm looking at that camera, the view that I see is just, basically the medical desk. Uh, and when you came in, you came in with the wheel chair, if I'm looking at it. So, from my left, you came in with her and she went over and sat in the chair and they brought over a vital sign. At one-point Michelle and Ms. Laboy got up and walked back over to where you had come in from. Where, was there an exam room over there or something like that? Did she take her over, do you know where they went?

AO: I don't know where they went, but I know that she gave her the direction to walk back.

RH: Yup.

AO: You know, so we didn't use the wheel chair for her on the way back.

RH: Yeah.

AO: She said that it was better for her pregnancy to kind of just, walk back.

AO: Um...

RH: OK. I was just curious to what was over there. Cause I don't, I know that she got up and went and Laboy followed her and then like a minute later they came back and she sat back in the chair and they brought her over a pitcher of water and I think some towels or something like that.

AO: OK.

RH: I just don't know...

AO: Those are the things that she...

RH: Yeah...

AO: ...gave her.

RH: I'm just not sure where they went at that point. So that's why, I don't know if you, remember?

AO: No, no.

RH: OK. OK. Um, and then did you hear any specific instruction that Michelle gave to inmate Laboy at that time at 11:10?

AO: She just basically told her that she wasn't going to give birth any time soon. Um, to relax, take it easy. Um, to drink the water. Um, just the direction that she gave her with the things that she gave her.

RH: And...

AO: Pretty much.

RH: How did inmate Laboy seem at that point when, after going down? Was she ok, was she still mad, or?

AO: She was never mad, she was just in discomfort.

RH: OK.

AO: You know, her first kid from what I had gathered...

RH: Yep.

AO: So, she was just...

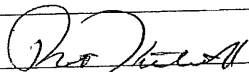

RH: OK. In your report you indicated that a nurse came into the unit at 2:25am, do you know which nurse came in?

AO: Um, her, her name, her name is Brianna I believe, I'm not so sure.

AO: I was, I had just started touring. Um...

RH: Did you speak to her at all?

AO: I did not.

RH: OK. Cause I know she was in the unit for quite a while. I actually, you actually finished your tour before she left with Surriera, so I just didn't know if you mentioned anything, if you talked to her.

AO: No.

RH: OK.

AO: No.

RH: Do you know if your partner said anything to her, about Laboy? Was Laboy ever mentioned to Brianna?

AO: Not that I'm aware of.

RH: OK. Um, and then, so at 4:30am, the nurse was called again because inmate Laboy was complaining about fluid discharge. Who ended up calling medical at that point?

AO: I believe it was Officer Surriera.

RH: OK. And, do you know who, which nurse Officer Surriera talked to in medical?

AO: I believe she spoke to Michelle again.

RH: OK. Um, so do you know what the nurse told Officer Surriera during that conversation?

AO: From what I know from that night she just pretty much told her that, that it was gonna be ok, to relax that nothing was different or not normal or I'm not...

RH: OK. And, um, so after the phone call, what was conveyed back to inmate Laboy? Like what, so Surriera hangs up the phone and then she goes back down to the, do you know what she said...?

AO: I, I, I don't know what she said.

RH: OK.

AO: Because it was through the...

RH: Did Surriera tell you what the nurse told her? Basically, said just to relax or something like that. So, hey, that's what they are saying, just relax?

AO: Yeah. That she wasn't going to have a baby, tonight. Or...

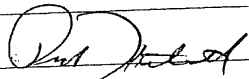

RH: OK.

RH: OK.

AO: I don't and again some of the things, that we, um, experienced that night, were first time things...

RH: Yup.

AO: We were advised on how to handle certain situations after.

RH: OK.

AO: You know, maybe a little differently, as far as we were concerned we had spoken to medical and medical gave us the reassurance that everything was good. So that's what we did.

RH: OK. Sure. Um, did you happen to mention inmate Laboy to either Lieutenant York or Lieutenant Vega when they came into the unit? I think they came in at like 4:15, like 15 minutes before the call.

AO: Right.

RH: Did you talk to the brass about hey, there's inmate Laboy, no?

AO: Did not.

RH: OK. Um, so then and she ends up going to chow.

AO: She did.

RH: And when she was released did she say anything to you before she went over or after she came back?

AO: When she came back, I stopped her at the top of the stairs before she went down to the F tier, and I asked her if she was ok. I noticed that she walked to chow so are things better. She just pretty much told me from what I remember that she was still in discomfort, she was doing what the nurse asked her to do. Which was walk, she was hungry, so she went to chow.

RH: OK. And then in your report, you indicated you called medical again around 6:30am.

AO: Correct.

RH: Um, who did you talk to in medical?

AO: I spoke to, um, Officer Maddox first.

RH: OK. Makes sense, good.

AO: [??]

RH: So, I'm not going crazy, so, I, based on the initial incident report there was a question. You said you had called medical and they wanted me to find the phone call. So, I found the, the 4:30 one was easy to find. That 6:30 one was a little difficult because the first one, Surriera when she called, uh, I can, I see on camera that Nurse Simmons picked up the phone. I can see them both hang up the phone call at the same time. So, this was a little different. What I thought happened was when you called, the officer picked up the phone at the, at the, and then Michelle came over and took the phone from the officer?

AO: Right.

RH: Yup.

AO: ...when that whole thing happened. I called and just out of nervous, I called four south.

RH: Yup.

AO: Instead of calling the direct nurses station.

RH: Yep.

AO: Yeah, I called there...

AO: She's right behind there.

RH: Yeah.

AO: You know...

RH: Yup.

AO: That's what I did.

RH: Yup. That's fine, I mean literally from Officer Ma--, so I didn't know who was the Officer was that picked up the phone, but Officer Maddox, where she was sitting, Michelle was like basically...

AO: Pretty much.

RH: ...where the door was.

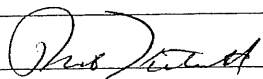

AO: Pretty much.

RH: OK. So, Maddox picks up the phone, you told her, and then Michelle came and took the phone from Maddox.

AO: Correct.

RH: And what did, what was the conversation between you and Michelle at that point?

AO: Um, the conversation was her giving me directions. Um, as to, what to tell her. You know?

RH: OK. SO then, how was Michelle's tone with you. Was she polite, was she professional or was she upset that you had called again?

AO: She was, uh, she seemed like she was caught up in the moment too. You know?

RH: OK.

AO: She did tell me to tell her to relax that, um, that she was passing the information over to the A-P-R-N nurse that was coming in and that they would examine her or call for her, whenever that was, you know?

RH: OK. After the phone call was over, who relayed that information to inmate Laboy?

AO: Um, that part right there's kind of, not a blur, but it was like bang, bang, bang, one thing lead to the next. You know?

RH: OK.

AO: Um, so, I don't know if we ever got to relay that message because, a minute or couple minutes after I got off the phone, you know it was all the chaos was going on through the speaker. That's when I found out that. So, I had sent, I sent Surriera down and I told her that if it seems like a code, just call it. You know?

RH: I'm sorry, I'm sorry, I missed that part.

AO: She ran down.

RH: I missed that whole, you said that if it seems like a code, call, at 6:30, when you called?

AO: When I called...

RH: So, they...

LR: When she was buzzing you.

RH: She buzzed the panel...

LR: Yes, yes, but this is before when you called medical with the blood clot.

AO: Right.

 AO: Right.

RH: It probably could have felt all really close. But your actual phone call to Michelle was at 6:16. Um, well actually 6:15 is when Maddox picked up and then Fialla picked up at 6:16. The code was at 6:41.
 AO: 6:41.

RH: I mean 6:16, 6:30, I mean it's, I'm not.

 AO: Not to me.

JB: OK.
 AO: You know, that was never a topic of conversation...

JB: OK.

RH: The second call. That, so that we had the...
 AO: No actually the third...

RH: The third. The third call yeah.
 AO: I thought, I thought...

RH: First call was 11:10...

Nature of interview: Investigation into the circumstances leading to IM Laboy giving birth in her cell.

SM – 11pm to 7am.

CH – Ok, do you remember Inmate Laboy coming over in the beginning of the shift?

SM – Yes.

CH – Ok, just tell me what you observed when she came over.

SM – The officer brought her over in a wheel chair.

CH – Do you remember which officer?

SM – Officer Ortiz.

CH – Ok.

SM – The Inmate complained of labor pains and the nurse assessed her to the right of our Officers' station.

CH – Do you remember which nurse assessed her?

SM – Her first name is Michelle, I do not know her last name.

CH – Ok.

SM – And then she sent her back to the unit. She had come in the wheel chair, she told her she had to walk back to the unit.

CH – Ok. Did you hear anything else about their interactions?

SM – The only other thing I heard her say was that she, Ortiz was concerned she was going to have the baby and she confirmed that there was no way she could be in labor. She was 8 months pregnant and that the baby was not going to be born in the unit.

CH – Ok.

SM – Those were her specific words.

CH – Did you notice at any point when they walked to an exam room?

SM – They did go to an exam room and then I toured, so I can't tell you how long they were in there, or what they did.

CH – Ok.

SM – I did ask if she was able to do an exam, a cervical exam, because I myself have had 4 children and she said they weren't allowed to do that. So, that's the only question I asked her and then the Inmate was sent back to the unit.

CH – And then, do you remember, so at approximately quarter to 5 in the morning, Officer Surriera called the unit?

SM – Yes.

CH – Do you remember who she spoke to?

SM – She spoke with Michelle.

CH – Ok and did you hear any of that conversation?

Investigator:

Paul D. Surriera

SM – I didn't, I wasn't aware that it was Surriera on the phone, but I knew it was someone from that unit because Michelle stated, "I, I told you when, I told Officer Ortiz when he came down here burning the wheels off the wheel chair that there was not gonna be a baby born in your unit tonight. She's not in labor."

CH – Ok.

SM – And she reassured her that she had been a labor and delivery nurse for 14 years and she knew that the Inmate was not going to have a baby.

CH – Ok, perfect. And then at about 6:15 Ortiz called the unit. Did you answer the phone?

SM – I answered the phone. I think that he was probably a little nervous at that point and called my line instead of the nurses' line by accident. I don't know, but when I answered, he's like, "Oh my God, Maddox." Like he, I think he was looking for the nursing staff and he's like, "This Inmate is having blood clots." And I was like, "Oh my God, you probably should send her." You know, with my births, I experienced the same thing. So I was like, "You should send her, you should send her." And Michelle actually grabbed the phone from me and took over the conversation and told him that if there was blood clots the baby would be coming soon so there's no way there's blood clots. And within minutes, Officer Surriera was calling a Code White over the radio.

CH – Ok, do you remember any conversation that Michelle may have had with either of the other nurses at that point?

SM – No, I don't even, I wasn't aware of the other nurse in the unit, because Michelle was with, on that side in 4 South all night. The other nurse was back and forth between 4 South and 4 North. So, I didn't even realize who the other nurse was until they all went running to the Code.

CH – Ok, after the Code was over, were you there when they came back?

SM – No, I wasn't.

CH – Ok.

SM – It was at the end of shift.

CH – So you didn't speak to any of the nurses after the fact?

SM – No, I never saw them because I went home for the day.

CH – So, do you have any general impression of how Michelle handled that incident that night?

SM – I thought that as a nurse, she could have been a little more compassionate. But, overall I thought, you know, I trusted that she knew what she was doing. She kept confirming that, you know, she had experience in labor and delivery. So, I mean, I'm not a nurse, I can't...

CH – But you specifically remember her saying, mentioning on the phone to Ortiz, "If she's having blood clots, the baby's coming, that means the baby's coming. And she's not delivering."

SM – Right. She said, "There's no way she's having blood clots. Because if she was having blood clots, if there were blood clots the baby would be coming."

CH – Ok.

SM – And literally, the baby came.

RH: And when you say she kept calling, she was calling the Officers as they were touring or she was using the intercom?

SB: The intercom, yeah.

RH: So, she kept calling on the intercom?

SB: M-hmm.

RH: Into the Officers...

SB: Yeah. Or sometimes when they come down to do rounds.

RH: Yup. And what was she complaining about?

SB: That she was having this baby tonight and nobody believed her.

RH: OK. Um, she was telling the Officers she was gonna have the baby and you said they weren't believing her? What were they telling her back?

SB: Because when she called, when she's been calling them like a lot. It's not like she has been just calling a little, she's been calling a lot. For, because she was having braxton hicks. But it's her first child, sometimes you can't tell the difference.

RH: Sure. Nervous mother, right?

SB: M-hmm.

RH: Right. OK.

SB: So as different things were going on, I started telling her well maybe you might need to press the button now because now you have bright blood. Cause, um, I came down to use the bathroom and she had been on the toilet for while so when she finally got off the toilet, I wanted to use it in that little bit of time. But I stepped on some blood, so, I felt something, a squish under my feet and I know there's nothing supposed to be squishy under the feet in the cell cause there's nothing. So, I turned on the light to see what it was and she had a puddle of blood on the floor. So, I told her to push the button cause the blood is bright red now. It's not like it, mucus, before they were saying it's the mucus plug. But it wasn't the mucus plug this time and I'm thinking that maybe she was in labor.

RH: OK.

SB: But I'm thinking, they were gon--, she was saying that the lady from O-B, this was like later, um, fast forwarding a little, almost like early morning now she said she has to wait for O-B-G-Y-N to come in because she's not, um, trained to do that.

RH: OK. Hold on a second.

SB: Yes.

RH: OK. And then was she taken to medical at any point last night?

SB: Um, she went about, I don't have a watch...

RH: No that's ok.

SB: So, like between 10 and 11. So it was around change of shift...

RH: Yup.

SB: ...that she went the first time. They gave her some ice and they gave her, um, uh, compress, a hot compress and just told her to eat some ice and take it easy because it's the Braxton Hicks, she's just got to try to relax, try to relax.

RH: How long was she gone for?

SB: She was probably, um, she came back probably 1 o'clock.

RH: She came back around 1?

Nature of interview: York Correctional Institution Security Division Investigation 18-017

RH: OK, and then, um, how many times do you think you used the, the intercom last night to try and say hey, she really is having some kind of labor?

SB: I know it's like 4 times with the intercom and then like two or three times she tried to stop them. Ortiz always stopped and checked on her anyway. The other lady did too. She would just check on her, but when she called, when he called, she tells them can you call medical. Then when I keep saying that she called. When she tells them to call medical, can you call medical and tell the nurse I need to come over and see her because this is going on and that is going on and then she will be back in with the message was relayed back from the nurse.

RH: OK.

SB: So, she was like tell her I can't wait 15 minutes. And then the baby came within that 15 minutes.

RH: OK.

SB: Shit, they even had me going, I was drifting off like oh my god. All night I've been trying to go to sleep and then I wake up to some more screams. And I'm like it can't be that bad, they only Braxton Hicks, they even had me going.

RH: Oh my god.

SB: So, she was no I think this baby is coming today. Well before she was having a lot of issues with it, so everybody was like she's not having it today, she's not due for a whole 'nother month. But, baby, I did tell her, I said I think your baby is gonna come a little sooner then, um, what they expected them to.

RH: I guess they come when they want to come out, right? I'm interested, I want to back you up, when you said, you were saying that, um, uh, that she had to wait for the O-B-G-Y-N to come in because she wasn't trained to do, what are you saying she wasn't trained to do? And when you say she, are you talking about the nurse that was there that night?

SB: Because the other nurse, if they don't specialize in O-B-G-Y-N...

RH: M-hmm.

SB: ...they can't. All she can do is keep calling the nurse that is on call.

RH: Yup.

SB: I'm just telling you that from what I know.

RH: Yup. Yup.

SB: Working in that field. That she just had to call. But she, there not supposed to tell the patient that, but I know how to read in between the lines without actually telling her that. I just in the situation that it was, I didn't put myself as an inmate, I put myself as a...

RH: Sure.

SB: ...professional at work. So, when she was, that's how I read in between the lines that she wasn't, she you know, she just kept, was buying time, buying time until the lady get there. Cause they call back in and they was like just tell her to hold on, she'll be here in like 15 minutes and I guess that was her E-T-A for the amount of time that it will take for her to get here from wherever the nurse was at.

RH: Yup.

SB: But she, she needs to be able, if she wanted to check her she needed to be able to know how to do a vaginal, a vaginal exam. And if she's only there for general stuff like finger sticks...

RH: Right, Right.

SB: ...and stuff like that. It takes a little more expertise for her to do that and I think Machinski, Machinski and Diane Carter are the only two that are, that are really specialized in that...

RH: OK.

SB: Cause its only like two or three nurses that I see in there. I think it was just a lack of communication. That's all.

RH: Lack of communication between, um, between Ms. Laboy and the Nurse, or between the Nurse and Doctors, or?

SB: I think it was just how, I think because she had been going, she always pushes the buzzer so I can honestly say...

RH: Do you think she was kind of like a crying wolf type thing? Like she can't...

SB: Yeah. That's what I thought, I wanted to tell her, what, I don't think she was just crying wolf, I think she was just nervous about the whole thing. Cause she doesn't have her paperwork ready. Her paperwork for her daughter going to her mom when she leave. They haven't did her paperwork yet. So, she's been worried about, worried about that, worried about that. So, since they were messing up on that, she's been worried about everything.

RH: OK.

SB: So, like her anxiety level has been up and she's an anxious person anyway. That's like, um, I would want to say a diagnosis for her because she had anxiety. Cause she, she cuts...

RH: Oh, OK.

SB: ...she cuts. So...

RH: Have you ever noticed her doing that, any of that?

SB: She like, she never does it when she's in the room with me. I've seen it on her, but I haven't seen it on her recently. Like any fresh scars or anything like that.

RH: OK. Was she, uh, being seen regularly by a Mental Health provider?

SB: Uh, yeah. That's who, that's who Jill is. Just the supervisor, social...

RH: Jill...

SB: ...she's the social worker for that unit.

RH: Oh, OK. OK. Um, so she was just really anxious because. So, her paperwork for when she gave birth wasn't, in place...

SB: M-hmm.

SB: Yeah.

RH: OK.

SB: She was, they were, they were working on it.

RH: When is that usually, how, when is that usually taken care of?

SB: It is usually done way sooner but they didn't have the person doing it. But I think Jill mother does it now.

RH: OK.

SB: Jill mother does it now. She, um, volunteered basically to come in and do it. So, I, because she's retired. But, she, um, she stepped in and she started doing it. But they just haven't gotten to it yet.

RH: Hmm.

SB: So that's alright, guess she was like I think this baby is coming tonight. I was like no I think it's just the Braxton Hicks. I think you just need to calm down, you even had me [??]. Calm down a little bit. She's like no, the baby is coming tonight.

RH: Let me ask you this, do you think, um, the Officers in the unit were ignoring her, at all?

SB: One and not the other. One would stop and the other one, well, she was, it's more like, you know how like sometimes you have to talk to the opposite sex to get things...

RH: Yeah, yep, yep.

SB: ...not get things done. For some reason, I don't know what it is, the communication is different. Like women are harder on women then it is like if you wanted, like if you wanted to get something done and you talk better to the women then to the man, I don't know.

RH: So, your saying Officer Ortiz would stop regularly?

SB: M-hmm.

RH: OK. And who was the other Officer?

SB: The other Officer, she would stop too, but...

RH: What was her name?

SB: I don't know her name.

RH: OK. So, Ortiz would stop, the other would stop but not really.

SB: Yeah...

RH: OK.

SB: ...she would stop, but she wasn't as, um, what word...

RH: Concerning? Or, uh, caring?

SB: Not, yeah, not as concerned as caring, she would check but it wasn't as sincere.

RH: OK. OK.

SB: But when she had the baby, she was like the head is coming out. She was like really, the head is coming out. That woke me up right then and there...

RH: Mm. My God.

SB: ...then I look and she had the head coming out in between her legs, so I jumped down, jumped down off the bed and I grabbed the towel and when she was trying to get up, the baby slipped from out of her hands into the toilet cause it's kind of hard to keep the baby from coming out while your delivering at the same time.

RH: I can't imagine that.

SB: So, the baby, the baby is in the toilet moving all around...

RH: Yup.

SB: ...and I'm like and there's water in the toilet, so I'm like I got the towel, I need you to help me. So, she stood up, grabbed the baby, so now, we both grabbed the baby and we both holding the baby to make sure the babies, the babies must of, you know how cold water goes from warm to cold real quick, once she had a little shock, then she started crying.

RH: OK. Unbelievable.

SB: I'm like it's going to be on [REDACTED] its ok.

RH: OK.

SB: And she was like, you know was listen to, my voice was soothing her. She was just crying a little bit, not a lot.

RH: The baby or the mother?

SB: The baby, the mother was fine.

RH: Yeah, yeah, yeah.

SB: Cause I kept telling her your gonna be, your gonna appreciate all the pain after cause you will be happy when you see your baby after.

RH: Yeah.

SB: Like all the pain would be worth it.

RH: OK. How long did it take, um, medical staff to respond to the cell after, um, the realized...

SB: They came imm--, they came immediately after that.

RH: So, what do you say, in seconds? Within minutes...

SB: They were there within seconds because when, um, when me and her were talking like, oh shit, you are having a baby, well I'm just telling you what was said...

RH: OK. Yeah, yeah, yeah, no its fine.

RH: You made her go...

SB: ...to breakfast.

RH: OK.

SB: She wasn't gonna, but I was just like walk slow, you got to eat something.

RH: Yup.

SB: Cause like I said, I thought she, um, a lot of time, but that's normal, a lot of times for her she doesn't like to get up in the morning. I think all of us since its cold outside, got us used to bringing the food to us. So now its cold outside, we don't want to go to the chow hall.

RH: Sure, I don't blame you.

SB: It was early in the morning, it be cold.

RH: So, she made, how far is it from 2 North to the kitchen?

SB: It's just right across.

RH: Right across, OK. So, she was able to walk over the kitchen? She sat down and ate and then walked back?

SB: She only ate some of the yogurt and then after that she was like I'm going back, I don't feel good.

RH: OK. So, she, oh, so she told you I was going back, I don't feel good?

SB: Yeah which is normal for her because I always give her my cake. We have certain days, we have certain things and today we have cake and I don't eat the cake, so she eats my cake.

Prepared By: James Randeau			Title: Lieutenant
Supervisor Summary
Narrative: On February 13, 2018 I, Lieutenant James Randeau, was posted as the West Compound Supervisor (1311). Lieutenant Philip Cruz was assigned to work with me during the shift as part of his on the job training. At 6:41am a Code White was called via the Tait radio system in 2 North by Officer Silvia Surreira. Officer Surreira was asked via the radio the nature of the code (i.e. illness/injury). She reported that a baby had been born. At 6:42am Main Control (station 13) was directed to activate 911 by Lieutenant Gina Schiavone who was posted as the Desk Supervisor for this medical emergency. Officer Surreira reported that Inmate Laboy had utilized the intercom to contact the officer's station to report she had just given birth to a baby in the toilet. She reported, she immediately responded to the area and called a Code White when she witnessed Inmate Laboy standing over a pool of blood and holding an infant child. I arrived on scene and directed Officer Armando Torreullas to immediately sign onto the video camera utilizing proper sign on procedures. Inmate Laboy Tianna #417372 was in the cell with Officer Mary Courtois and Officer Shannon Grillo who had responded to this incident. Officer Grillo was holding the infant utilizing a towel, she was wearing blue nitrile gloves. Officer Courtois was assisting in keeping the scene safe. Inmate Laboy was standing at the back of the cell leaning on the counter in front of the toilet. I directed Officer Courtois to direct the roommate Inmate Sonya Bracy #377516 from the cell for staff and Inmate Laboy's safety. Medical Staff Registered Nurse (RN) Deanne Arndt, Sareen, Reinholtz, Craig Stover and Dianne Carter arrived on scene to provide medical treatment to Inmate Laboy while awaiting the arrival of the ambulance to the scene. RN Arndt reported that she responded to the unit behind RN Fiala. She reported that she observed Inmate Laboy standing on the right side of the toilet and the infant laying on a blanket. She reported that the cord (umbilical cord) and placenta were attached. She reported that the infant was pink and crying. She reported that she dried and stimulated the infant. She then states that she assists Inmate Laboy to the bed and placed her in dry blankets. She reports the baby was placed skin to skin on the mother. She reports the mother is alert with minimal bleeding. She then indicates that she clamps and cut the cord at 6:53am. She also reports a spontaneous delivery of the placenta. She continues her observation of Inmate Laboy and the infant until the arrival of ambulatory personnel (EMS). She reports once EMS arrived she assisted Inmate Laboy to the stretcher for transport. RN Sareen Reinholtz reported that she was instructed by Correctional Nursing Supervisor (NS-C) Diane Carter to respond to a code white in 2 North. She reports that she arrived at 6:41am with a birthing kit to assist the medical staff on scene. RN Reinholtz reports she recorded the times of the placenta delivery, baby temperature and APGAR (score method to quickly summarize the health of a new born child). She then gave this information to the EMS ambulance crew. RN Craig Stover reported that he responded to 2 North and assisted in retrieving medical supplies from the medical unit at the request of the other medical staff on scene. He reports that he made three trips back and forth to the medical unit for supplies. He then reports he remained on scene until EMS arrived. NS-C Dianne Carter reported that she was notified of a Code White and that a baby had been born. NS-C Carter reported that she responded to building 2 and found Inmate Laboy on her bunk with two nurses in attendance. She reports the baby was pink and the APGAR was a 9.

Narrative: Supervisor Summary She further reports the mother's vitals were stable and she was alert and oriented. She reports the placenta was passed and placed in a biohazard bag to be sent to the hospital. She then reports the transfer to the ambulatory team was made for the transport to Lawrence Memorial Hospital. I observed medical staff assisting Inmate Laboy to a seated position on the bottom bunk in cell #8. The infant baby was then placed in her arms to assist the baby in staying warm. During this process I directed Officer Grillo to take over the operation of the handheld video camera due to the sensitive nature of this incident and the Inmates state of un-dress. Medical continued to treat Inmate Laboy providing her and the infant with clean towels and blankets. That were retrieved by Officer Trevor Smith from the Admissions and Processing area per my direction. At 6:50am it was reported that East Lyme Ambulance Arrived on the York CI grounds. The Ambulance was escorted through the truck gate and onto the West Compound by Officer Miles Lafamina who was assigned as the chase vehicle operator for this incident. The Ambulatory staff arrived on scene in 2 North at 7:01am. The York CI medical staff advised them of Inmate Laboy's medical condition. The medical staff then determined that the safest way to move Inmate Laboy from Cell #8 on F-tier to the gurney in the Officers common area was to have her walk with assistance from medical staff. Inmate Laboy was assisted to a standing position. The infant child was placed in the care of RN Michelle Fiala. Inmate Laboy walked under her own power from the tier to the awaiting gurney with minimal assistance. Once secured on the gurney RN Fiala placed the infant child back in the arms of Inmate Laboy for the transport to Lawrence Memorial Hospital. Inmate Laboy and the Infant child were secured in the back of the ambulance. Officer Jennifer Kirkwood assigned to ride in the ambulance as the escort officer. There were no restraints utilized for this transport because they were medically contradicted due to her medical condition. Once secured in the rear of the ambulance the ambulance departed the West Compound. Officer Grillo who had relieved Officer Torruellas on the video camera was instructed to properly sign off the video camera. The Ambulance departed grounds at 7:15am and the Code White, 911 activation was cleared. The Ambulance arrived at Lawrence Memorial Hospital at approximately 7:40am. Officer Kirkwood reported that Inmate Laboy and the infant were brought directly to the 4th Floor identified as the Labor and delivery unit. She reported that Inmate Laboy was being treated in the triage area and that the infant was sent for treatment with the medical staff at Lawrence Memorial Hospital. Both were reported to be in good health at the time of this reporting (8:28am). It should be noted for this incident that Officer Alberto Ortiz reported to me that the medical unit was advised of Inmate Laboy's complaint of stomach pains during 3rd shift. He reported that Inmate Laboy was sent to the medical unit for treatment at 11:10pm. He reported that Inmate Laboy was treated and returned to the unit. He reported that she returned with a pitcher of ice water and a hot cloth for her stomach at approximately 11:30pm. He documented the time Inmate Laboy exited and returned to the unit in the unit log book. He further reported that he contacted the medical unit two additional times in regard to Inmate Laboy's medical needs throughout the shift as she continued to complain of stomach pains from her pregnancy. At 5:35am it was reported that Inmate Laboy went to the dining hall for breakfast and returned with her unit. At approximately 5:45am she was asked by Officer Ortiz how she was feeling. He reported she indicated that she was ok but was still having discomfort in her stomach. Officer Ortiz reported he was contacted via the intercom system by Inmate Laboy at 6:30am who stated that she was clotting.

Narrative: On 2-12-18 at approximately 11:00pm, I officer Surreira assumed post in 2 North as the rover and the #1 officer was C/O Ortiz. At approximately 11:10pm inmate Laboy, Trianna #417372 was escorted via wheelchair by C/O Ortiz to medical due to apparent stomach pains. The inmate was later escorted back to 2 North from medical by C/O Ortiz. At approximately 2:30am on 2-13-18 nurse Simmons, Brianna entered the unit, we had a general conversation, she signed the logbook then left, I do not recollect the exact details of that conversation. A couple of times during my tours through out the night inmate Laboy said she was experiencing some discomfort but she seemed content. At approximately 4:30am during a tour inmate Laboy said she was experiencing some clear discharge. I called medical and spoke to nurse Fiala, Michelle about inmate Laboy's discharge, nurse Michelle said that inmate Laboy should be fine and she needs to relax and that theres nothing else that could be done at that time for the inmate. At approximately 5:40am I observed inmate Laboy enter the chowhall. Inmate Laboy did not appear to be in any distress and she did not express any concerns to me or any other staff member who were present in the chowhall. At approximately 6:30am inmate Laboy buzzed the panel complaining of a bloodclot. My partner C/O Ortiz called medical. C/O Ortiz explained to me that the nurse told him that inmate Laboy will be seen by the APRN nurse on first shift for the bloodclot. I went by inmate Laboy's cell and explained to inmate Laboy that the nurse said she would be seen by the APRN nurse on first shift for the bloodclot. At approximately 6:41am inmate Laboy buzzed the panel saying that she had just delivered a baby. I officer Surreira went down to cell 8 Frier and observed inmate Laboy standing over blood and holding a crying infant. I immediately called a code white and held the cell door open as staff entered the cell, inmates Laboy cellmate Bracy, Sonya #377516 began to hold the infant as inmate Laboy leaned against the counter. Inmate Bracy handed the infant over to a staff member. I officer Surreira stayed in the cell till inmate Laboy had left the cell with staff.

Narrative: As I was walking in to come to work this morning, I overheard a Code called on an officers radio. I ran to the medical unit, spoke with Diane Carter, punched in at 0642, and ran to 2N. Part way there I was asked by another RN to return for the birth kit. I returned to the Medical Unit only to find that the birth kit had already been sent. Upon returning to 2N, I was asked to return for more supplies. This I did, and upon returning, I was asked to return yet a third time for additional supplies. Upon delivering these, I remained until EMS transported mother and daughter to L&M.

Incident Location: 2 North
Prepared By: Simmons, Brianna			Title: RN
Narrative: On 2/12/18 at approximately 11:30pm, Inmate Tianna Laboy #417372 came to 4 South with complaints of lower abdominal pain. Nurse Fiala assessed Laboy and I, Nurse Simmons, went to 4 North to get Laboy a pitcher of ice for hydration because she was 35 weeks pregnant. Laboy then returned to her unit without issue. Later on in the same shift, on 2/13/18 at approximately 6:40am a Code White in 2 North was called on the radio. When we arrived at the scene, Laboy was standing in her cell holding a baby in her hands. The baby's skin coloring was pink, pulse was normal, the baby was crying and had flexion of the muscles. The initial Apgar score was 9. Laboy was directed to lay in the bed and the baby was placed on her stomach above the umbilical cord. Laboy's vital signs were normal, and she was alert and oriented. I, Nurse Simmons, then handed a blanket to Nurse Arndt who wrapped the newborn in the blanket. I, Nurse Simmons, then handed clamps and scissors to Nurse Arndt to clamp and cut the umbilical cord. I then made sure that the scissors were safely returned to the Emergency Infant Box. The second Apgar Score, performed approximately 5 minutes after the initial Apgar Score, was 9. After the placenta was delivered by Nurse Arndt and Nurse Fiala, I handed Nurse Arndt a bag to put the placenta in so it could be brought to the hospital with Laboy. I then took the placenta from Nurse Fiala after it was placed in the bag and held on to it until EMTs arrived and then gave the bag with the placenta to the EMT. Laboy was able to walk down the hallway and up the stairs to the stretcher. Laboy was secured on the stretcher with her baby and then transferred to the ambulance where she was driven to Lawrence and Memorial Hospital. -----EOR-----

Statement: I/m. Laboy, Tianna called several times throughout the night to be seen by 031642 staff I/m Bracy, Sonya (myself) was up through the night to try to help calm and relax her. The staff told her she would see the GUN in 15 minutes (which was just before the code was called) but Laboy had the baby before so Laboy was on the toilet when baby came mistaken the abdominal pressure and it was actually the baby and not the bowel movement she thought it was. Inmate Bracy and Laboy both took the baby out of the toilet I grabbed a towel to keep the baby warm. Staff came down immediately. Then I was able to grab more towels and blanket for Baby Laboy. If any more questions regarding more specific details please contact me. The following statement is to the best of my ability & knowledge.

She gave birth to her baby in the cell. 'Where were you born?' 'YCI in the toilet' (both laugh). It's crazy
 Male>Yep

 Male>Welp, the way they look at shit, people chose to be there nobody made them do the shit they did to get down there
 Inmate>C.P. 2:24>Yeah but they were still supposed to bring her to the hospital
 Male>Well yeah, I would think so, yeah
 Inmate>So that's a whole lawsuit in itself nevermind the fact that there was a male Lieutenant standing in the door while they were cleanin' her up
 Male> Yeah. I hear ya

Male answers
 Inmate>C.P. 1:06>You how I said was gonna make a book that you can't- I was gonna write a book that says 'you can't make this shit up?'
 Male>Yup
 Inmate>So at 6:35-ish yesterday morning in the cell next to me this girl had her baby. In the cell.
 Male>(laughs) Really?
 Inmate>Yeah after she went to medical a half hour earlier, and they said, 'Stop whining, you're not gonna have the baby, here's a pitcher of ice water' and sent her back (male, laughing, 'wow') And then she's walkin' with me to chow in the morning and she's like 'They said it's my mucous plug but I don't know, God won't hold the liquid that's comin outta me I have a shirt between my legs!' And I was like oh no; I think that's her water. But I didn't say it to her 'cause she like you know, first time mom, this is her first baby and she's freakin' out. And then all of a sudden we get back, you hear her cryin' ...she was crying all night long and I- she woke me up I got in the vent at like 1:00 in the morning to talk to her, and I'm like 'Tiyanna baby what's wrong?' (unclear) she's like 'It hurts so bad', I'm like you gotta calm down, if you tense up, you know, it's gonna make it worse- we didn't know she was in labor; she was in labor all day
 Male>Wow
 Inmate>C.P. 2:18>Yeah and they kept sending her back, and she was like, um, she was like it hurts so bad! I'm like alright honey well you gotta calm down don't tense up if you tense up it's gonna hurt more. She's like 'Okay I'm sorry my sobbing woke you!' I'm like stop, no, don't worry about it! And, um, I said I know how miserable pregnancy is trust me I've been there! And she's like 'Ok I'm gonna try to sleep' I'm like alright honey. And then we woke up for breakfast and she was miserable I'm like you poor thing. And her bunkie's like yeah I don't got no sleep neither I been up with her all night. I'm like oh my god you poor thing too! And um, we come back, and literally we hear her screaming that she's got blood comin' out of her and the C.O.'s are like listen, they already told you you're fine, she's like 'no no no. No I wanna go to medical I'm scared!' And she's like 'I have blood comin' outta me!' And then like, she went, 'cause she thought she had to shit, 'cause that's what it feels like, and she went onto the toilet and she started bleeding more and more, and then all of a sudden she put her hand down there, she's like, well her Bunkie pressed the button and she's like 'I feel her head!' And then she started screaming and they're like 'What? We didn't hear you' And she's like (Inmate imitates screaming) So she starts screaming, right, and then, her- and that was it. And then her Bunkie was like umm, and they're like 'What'd you- what'd she say?' Like a second time and then her Bunkie goes, 'Uh, there's a baby'
 Male>Wow

Inmate>C.P. 4:04>Yeah. And they're like 'What? Is she...having the baby?' And she's like 'No. There IS a baby in the cell.' And then they came rushing down. And I'm like please let the baby be ok please let the baby be ok.' And then all of a sudden the baby starts crying. Like, you know. And I was like oh my god thank god. She had a good set of lungs on her she was perfectly fine. And the girl was perfectly fine.

Male>Wow

Inmate> Yeah the baby was so cute (Inmate explains to Male the process of Inmate going to the hospital and coming back, then everyone joking about a lawsuit and everyone better make friends with the inmate. Male says he would say that would definitely be 'lawsuit-wise')

Inmate>C.P. 5:18>Well this one fuckin' nurse- First off, they were calling Medical 'cause, like, Tiyanna kept pushin' the button, crying crying crying, and, they like, they called medical, and one of the nurses finally said 'alright, bring her', or 'Let her come', and the other nurse that she was seein' said no, and took the phone, and said 'No. Don't send her' and hung up, 'cause they didn't want to see her anymore. And then she had the baby! And then the fuckin' nurse came and she's like 'Oh wow' and then she's like 'well it's not the first time' I'm like really? I would not wanna say that out loud. And then Liza, the girl who's been here for 25 years, she's like 'this is the first I've ever heard, or known of a baby bein' born, in the prison, in the cell since I've been here

Inmate goes on to describe how cute the baby was and that there were no complications, and general conversation about Inmate's visiting list. Both say I love you/goodbye

Inmate>Hey, happy Valentine's Day
 Female>Same to you Baby. And I miss you. But listen to this situation
 Inmate>What happened? Wait a minute wait- hold on let me tell you this first 'cause it might help me get out. I know when you do a good deed and like you save somebody's life or a inmate's life doesn't it help you with getting' out?
 Female>No. That's just- nigga' that's just savin' somebody's life. But listen: I talked to Jason. He came to me, he gave me the check. So right now I got your check, 2600; right? It's a original check, and I got your ID, right? But, he signed it on the back and then scribbled it out.
 Inmate>Are you serious?
 Female>I'm serious as cancer. I'm serious as motherfuckin' cancer
 Inmate>He just fucks up every damn thing all the time. Well at least you got it; at least it's not in his hands no more
 Female>Ok. So Mommy said- Mommy said bring it to her; she can do somethin' to it. Where-
 Inmate>Mommy got- Mommy got bank connects though. Mommy got friends that work at the bank (Unclear; sounds like 'that are older' or 'over' or 'open'?)...why you ain't call Yo-Yo?
 Female>I ain't think about it! I just- I didn't get the check yesterday I got the check the day before. The night before.
 Inmate>(laughing)Well what did he say- what led up-
 Female>Nigga'- nigga said 'I know I ain't gonna (words are obscured by automated recording) she owe me money; her and Tommy owe me mad money. Between both of them they owe me twenty- no, 40 G's.' I'm like 'okay, listen-'
 Inmate>Tommy- she bought Tommy a car so he could get around, to and from- what it is, he be thinkin' 'cause we girls, that you could push up over us. And now me, I give you every red cent that you have but you- you think I ain't try to bully me for my money? That's why he don't got it yet. Whenever you stop tryin' to like, manhandle everything, you can't do that to us. Cause ju like, you not sweet, the women in the family not sweet in any way. If anything, the women in the family have more of a backbone than the men
 Female>Right. And that's what I told him, I says, so he said, 'bring me that check, or you goin' to jail.' But he was high as fuck that night. (Inmate laughing) He was so fuckin' high. And he kept- and to be honest, I didn't call him back. He kept calling me. When he said he was at- (mimicks stuttering? 'a-a-a-a-a-a-' at that (cuts out) and nigga' the check is wrinkled as a motherfucker. Cause it was in his motherfuckin' wallet like a goddamn postcard. (Inmate laughing) So I'm like, I'ma take this check, I'ma mail it to HER,you know... I told him. I said 'I'ma mail it to you-'
 Inmate>If you mail it to me they gonna send it back to you anyway I can't have stuff like that Female>That's what he said. That's what he said. So I called-
 Inmate>You can put it in to the inmate trust fund but you would have to call them first, so when it gets there they know what it looks like, so they know that it's- what the situation was, you know, and talk specifically to one person and address it to that person, so that, um-
 Female>That's why I held onto it
 Inmate>Okay
 Female>I got it, I got your ID, I'm like shit. And her ID I don't look like Sony. She got makeup on and shit-
 Inmate>(laughing) That's what I was thinkin' too 'cause I had a- 'this is bullsht' face too 'cause I had waited in that line so long for that dumbass picture
 Female>Yo! I'm like, I ain't even got the hookup no more! You know- then check aint'- and then, the nigga' tell me I have to be on the visiting list to send you money

Attachment B CN10703

Inmate>Well I got a visiting form and a envelope...I'll send it to you
 Female>Nah I'm just tryin' to say-
 Inmate>(Sounds like Jill) is still on the visiting list; she would just have to send it in- or call my counselors, to make herself active. 'Cause she on my visiting list from before. They're just not active 'cause I left and went home and came back
 Female>C.P. 6:02>Alright well what do you want me to do with it? I have the actual check. Do I give it to Mommy? What do I do
 Inmate>Um, give it to Mommy (unclear)>C.P. 6:14> that was- real like a motherfucker. Real bitches been doin' real things. I delivered a baby yesterday. In the- in the room. the baby outta the toilet. Then they come in the room yellin' at me for put the baby down, I'm like 'I can't put the baby down!' (laughing) 'It's attached to her- it's still attached to her!' But that was crazy- the, um, investigator investigated me yesterday, asked me how much my bond was, that's why I was like it's gotta be somethin' 'cause they was real nice to me yesterday. I got new shirts, some new skippies, new bed setuper, everybody's mad nice to me they were callin' me a hero and shit- for real and I was like wait hold up- this supposed to be on the news. It felt like this- supposed to be on the news, like 'cause I been makin' the news a whole lot but you know what? Tell me- I ain't on the news when I do some good shit. (Both laugh) I said that was one good deed like a motherfucker
 Female>Yo. Facts.
 Inmate>I tell you, I told her; said you got the best Valentine's Day gift. She was all sad. But she a little ruder though, that's my- that's my homegirl, that's my little homegirl she my Bunkie she's funny as fuck. She be rollin' up on motherfuckers- Yo my Bunkie said she don't feel like (automated recording, then pause) What you doin' today, you goin' out to eat?
 Female>Hell no, I ain't got no Valentine I'm single. Hallelujah!
 Inmate>I know but, that's the best! Listen, that's the best- look that's why I was cuttin' up so bad myself when I was single. (Unclear- sounds like 'wasn't gonna') let anyone tie me down for that little bit of time. (pause; Female makes general noise of agreement) That's still my baby though I'm just mad at him though that's all this is, some bullshit
 Female>Well it'll be over soon. It'll be- to you it'll go slow. But out here in this world, in the universe, it gonna go hella fast
 Inmate>(Unclear- sounds like 'ten commandments' or 'tell' something) with this dude
 Female>That's what the shit say. This is what the shit say. It say "Sonya Bracy: Attention. Um, Attorney (Sounds like 'Reddick' or 'Read {past tense} it'). (Pause) You get what I'm sayin'?"
 Inmate>Yeah
 Female>So, I'm like, why do you take the check from her, and never bring it back. Like, she told me she wasn't (sounds like 'due' or 'doin' or 'dealin' with me), I said yeah. She did that, when you didn't come back with the fuckin' money. Duh!
 Inmate>(Laughs) I've been prayin' up a storm. Awww...
 Female>(Laughs) I been talkin' about that check like a motherfucker I'm like this motherfucker's got my check, I been walkin' around this motherfucker steamin' I'm tryin' a tell you
 Female>Nope, I got it, so I'm like, I don't know- I'm like, I'm askin' (Sounds like 'ma') I'm like what should I do. She's like wait to hear from- wait for Sonya to call to see what she do. 'Cause I called Mommy, and I'm like, shit I got the check. But you know how Mommy be- wildin' sometimes, so I'm like- I'ma wait. And lord behold! And you call right now. I'm like shit I should go cash this shit and send her the money. But they're tellin' me I gotta be on your visiting list. But I can't cash it because, I can't. He- endorsed it. He wrote some shit in the back and then scribbled it out so in the back you got (unclear) scribbles. So- you get what I'm sayin'? So they gonna look at me funny anyway. When I bring some shit like that Inmate>C.P. 10:49>You don't have your girl that still work at the check cashin' place?
 Female>No! She don't work there anymore! (Sounds like 'Erica was') the only ones that did that!
 Inmate>I would say to talk to Red, or, that's the um- they about to turn the phone off, so I don't want you to think that I hung the phone up on you, cause it's time to eat and lock back up. I'll back later. But. >C.P. 11:13>Text with Red. She's in court so you gotta text wit' her
 Female>I'll text her, I still got her number, but if worst case scenario I'll give it to Mommy
 (Both say I love you and joke about being Valentines, then say goodbye)

Vanishing Twin Syndrome

OVERVIEW

Background

Vanishing twin syndrome, first described by Stoeckel in 1945, is the identification of a multifetal gestation with subsequent disappearance of one or more fetuses. The rate of multifetal gestation at conception is higher than the incidence noted at birth.^[1] Vanishing twin syndrome has been diagnosed more frequently since the use of ultrasonography in early pregnancy.^[2, 3] In vitro fertilization techniques have improved the understanding of vanishing twin syndrome because these pregnancies are closely monitored, and the number of implanted fertilized eggs is known.^[4]

In vanishing twin syndrome, there may be complete reabsorption of a fetus, formation of a fetus papyraceus (ie, a "mummified" or compressed fetus), or development of a subtle abnormality on the placenta such as a cyst, subchorionic fibrin, or amorphous material.^[5]

The timing of this event significantly affects the outcome of the viable twin and the maternal complications. For example, if the event occurs during the second half of pregnancy, the fetus could develop cerebral palsy or cutis aplasia, and the mother could develop preterm labor, infection, puerperal hemorrhage, consumptive coagulopathy, or obstruction of labor.^[6, 7]

Pathophysiology

Abnormalities that result in the disappearance of a fetus usually appear to be present from early in development rather than occurring from an acute insult. Placental or fetal analysis frequently reveals chromosome abnormalities. These abnormalities include diploidy, triploidy, and alternate sex chromosome results on placental pathology, skin biopsies, and chorionic villus sampling.^[8, 9, 10, 11] Study findings of the viable twin chromosomes in these reports are normal. Therefore, it is thought that the vanished twin had a chromosomal abnormality resulting in disappearance.

Epidemiology

Frequency

United States

The frequency of multiple gestations is 3.3-5.4% at 8 weeks' gestation. [1] Vanishing twin syndrome occurs in 21-30% of multifetal gestation. [4]

Research from a European series of pregnancies associated with assisted reproductive technology (ART) show that 10-15% of singleton births were initially twin gestations.

International

International prevalence is similar to that of the United States.

Mortality/Morbidity

Maternal first-trimester morbidity

Morbidity when vanishing twin syndrome occurs during the first trimester is limited. The mother is most likely to develop mild vaginal bleeding and cramping. If the event occurs later in the first trimester, morbidity may be similar to that of the second and third trimesters.

Maternal morbidity in the second and third trimesters

Maternal complications include premature labor, infection from a retained fetus, severe puerperal hemorrhage, consumptive coagulopathy, and obstruction of labor by a low-lying fetus papyraceus causing dystocia and leading to a cesarean delivery. [6]

The diagnosis of vanishing twin in a pregnancy significantly increases both preterm (< 37 gestational weeks) and very preterm (< 32 gestational weeks) births. [6]

Fetal morbidity and mortality

In addition to loss of a twin, the surviving fetus has an increased risk of cerebral palsy, particularly if vanishing twin syndrome occurred during the second half of pregnancy. [12]

Other forms of morbidity reported in the surviving twin are aplasia cutis or areas of skin necrosis. In twins connected through vascular connection by placental anastomoses, temporary hypotension in the surviving twin at the time of fetal demise of the vanishing twin leads to poor perfusion and skin necrosis. [13]

Complications

Prematurity

Singleton pregnancies that were reduced to singleton because of vanishing twin syndrome are more likely to be delivered preterm (35.1 vs 38.2 wk, $P=0001$). These rates of preterm delivery are similar to twin IVF pregnancies (23%). [14] In one series, singletons remaining after a vanishing twin event were associated with very premature birth (< 32 wk estimated gestational age). [15]

Low birth weight/small for gestational age

Singleton pregnancies that were reduced to singleton because of vanishing twin syndrome are at higher risk for growth restriction (32.6% vs 16.3% of control IVF singleton pregnancies).^[16] Risks associated with intrauterine growth restriction include increased morbidity and mortality in the neonatal period and increased rates of hospitalization in the neonatal intensive care unit.

Cerebral palsy

Researchers proposed that vanishing twin syndrome could result in spastic cerebral palsy in the remaining twin. (Cerebral palsy is the most common hypothesized pathological clinical sequela in the viable twin.)^[12]

A possible mechanism is the transfusion of thromboplastic proteins from the vanishing twin to the surviving twin, leading to disseminated intravascular coagulation (DIC). Researchers hypothesize that DIC results from reverse blood flow from the macerated twin to the viable twin, thus carrying thromboplastins into the circulation. This large thromboplastin load is hypothesized to lead to a state of DIC in the viable twin, which then leads to intrauterine central nervous system damage.^[17]

Another proposed mechanism for central nervous system damage involves large amounts of blood loss from the surviving twin to the low resistance system of the vanishing twin through placental anastomoses. This transfusion could cause wide fluctuation in intravascular pressures, leading to intraventricular hemorrhage that results in cerebral palsy.^[18]

Cerebral impairment in the survivor has also been linked to confirmed cases of vanishing twin with impairment on the Griffiths Mental and Developmental Scales and Optimality score (relative risk 6.1 $p=0.03$).^[18]

Associated congenital anomalies

A link in children with cerebral palsy and other congenital anomalies is possible. In one series, the relative risk for congenital malformations, including microcephaly, isolated hydrocephaly, eye, cleft lip/palate, and cardiac anomalies, increased over baseline from relative risk 3.1-116 (95% CI, 1.9-4.8 to 84 to 162.3; $P < 0.01$ to $P < 0.0001$) depending on the specific defect.^[19] These anomalies are postulated to be due in part to perturbations in fetal flow in the surviving twin at the time of loss of the vanishing twin.^[19]

Cutis aplasia

The mechanism of development of cutis aplasia is most likely vascular. There is thought to be decreased perfusion to the affected area at the time of demise of the vanished twin. Most case reports include a fetus papyraceous as the vanished twin.^[13, 20]

Other complications

Preterm birth of the surviving twin has been described with a 2.3-fold increased risk and a mortality rate that is 3-fold increased.^[21, 22]

The surviving singleton infant after a twin vanishes has been shown to have a lower birth weight (mean difference, 368 g) than singleton pregnancies.^[23]

Race

No predilection for any race has been reported.

Sex

No predilection for either sex has been reported in the vanishing twin.

Age

Researchers report more cases in women older than 30 years. Advanced maternal age is also a recognized risk factor for fetal and placental chromosome abnormalities.

What is preterm labor?

Preterm labor is defined as regular contractions of the uterus resulting in changes in the cervix that start before 37 weeks of pregnancy. Changes in the cervix include effacement (the cervix thins out) and dilation (the cervix opens so that the fetus can enter the birth canal).

What is preterm birth?

When birth occurs between 20 weeks of pregnancy and 37 weeks of pregnancy, it is called preterm birth.

Why is preterm birth a concern?

Preterm birth is a concern because babies who are born too early may not be fully developed. They may be born with serious health problems. Some health problems, like cerebral palsy, can last a lifetime. Other problems, such as learning disabilities, may appear later in childhood or even in adulthood.

Which preterm babies are at greatest risk of health problems?

The risk of health problems is greatest for babies born before 34 weeks of pregnancy. But babies born between 34 weeks of pregnancy and 37 weeks of pregnancy also are at risk.

What are risk factors for preterm birth?

Factors that increase the risk of preterm birth include the following:

- Having a previous preterm birth
- Having a short cervix
- Short interval between pregnancies

- History of certain types of surgery on the uterus or cervix
- Certain pregnancy complications, such as multiple pregnancy and vaginal bleeding
- Lifestyle factors such as low prepregnancy weight, smoking during pregnancy, and substance abuse during pregnancy

Can anything be done to prevent preterm birth if I am at high risk?

If you have had a prior preterm birth and you are planning another pregnancy, a preconception care checkup can help you get in the best possible health before you become pregnant. When you become pregnant, be sure to start prenatal care early. You may be referred to a health care professional who has expertise in managing high-risk pregnancies. In addition, you may be given certain medications or other treatment to help prevent preterm birth if you have risk factors. Treatment is given based on your individual situation and your risk factors for preterm birth.

What are the signs and symptoms of preterm labor and what should I do if I have any of them?

Call your obstetrician or other health care professional right away if you notice any of these signs or symptoms:

- Change in type of vaginal discharge (watery, mucus, or bloody)
- Increase in amount of discharge
- Pelvic or lower abdominal pressure
- Constant low, dull backache
- Mild abdominal cramps, with or without diarrhea
- Regular or frequent contractions or uterine tightening, often painless
- Ruptured membranes (your water breaks with a gush or a trickle of fluid)

How is preterm labor diagnosed?

Preterm labor can be diagnosed only when changes in the cervix are found. Your obstetrician or other health care professional may perform a pelvic exam to see if your cervix has started to change. You may need to be examined several times over a period of a few hours. Your contractions also may be monitored.

Your obstetrician or other health care professional may do certain tests to determine whether you need to be hospitalized or if you need immediate specialized care. A transvaginal ultrasound exam may be done to measure the length of your cervix. The level of a protein called fetal fibronectin in the vaginal discharge may be measured. The presence of this protein is linked to preterm birth.

If I have preterm labor, will I have a preterm birth?

It is difficult for health care professionals to predict which women with preterm labor will go on to have preterm birth. Only about 10% of women with preterm labor will give birth within the next 7 days. For about 30% of women, preterm labor stops on its own.

What happens if my preterm labor continues?

If your preterm labor continues, how it is managed is based on what is thought to be best for your health and your baby's health. When there is a chance that the baby would benefit from a delay in delivery, certain medications may be given. These medications include corticosteroids, magnesium sulfate, and tocolytics.

What are corticosteroids?

Corticosteroids are drugs that cross the placenta and help speed up development of the baby's lungs, brain, and digestive organs. Corticosteroids are most likely to help your baby when they are given between 24 weeks of pregnancy and 34 weeks of pregnancy, but consideration can also be given to providing corticosteroids between 23 and 24 weeks of pregnancy.

What is magnesium sulfate?

Magnesium sulfate is a medication that may be given if you are less than 32 weeks pregnant, are in preterm labor, and are at risk of delivery within the next 24 hours. This medication may help reduce the risk of cerebral palsy that is associated with early preterm birth.

What are tocolytics?

Tocolytics are drugs used to delay delivery for a short time (up to 48 hours). They may allow time for corticosteroids or magnesium sulfate to be given or for you to be transferred to a hospital that offers specialized care for preterm infants. In addition to its role in protecting against cerebral palsy, magnesium sulfate also can be used as a tocolytic drug.

What happens if my labor does not stop?

If your labor does not stop and it looks like you will give birth to your baby early, you and the baby usually will be cared for by a team of health care professionals. The team may include a neonatologist, a doctor who specializes in treating problems in newborns. The care your baby needs depends on how early he or she is born. High-level neonatal intensive care units provide this specialized care for preterm infants.
